The National Disability Insurance Scheme (NDIS) is visiting Coonamble High School on 4 September to provide information and assistance to apply for support.

The NDIS is a new way to help people under 65 with disability get care and supports. It also helps families and carers with information about services to support people with disability.

Representatives from the NDIS will visit Coonamble High School from 3pm to 6pm on 4 September 2018 to inform the community about the scheme and provide guidance to apply for support. Clontarf will provide a free barbeque for the community.

Families and carers with students in the Support Unit or with a diagnosed special need are encouraged to attend.
